

THE CANVASS FOR GOVERNOR IN PENNSYLVANIA.

The Last Call to Arms—Address of the Union State Central Committee.

To the Loyal Men of Pennsylvania:

The great political canvass, which, for the past six weeks, has been agitating our entire Commonwealth, is rapidly drawing to its close. It differs from all which have preceded it in the fact that the people have fully appreciated their own interest in it, and rising to the transcendent importance of its issues, have labored with the unexampled zeal and sacrifice to secure a verdict which shall attest, in emphatic tones, the loyalty of our native State to the Union of our fathers.

This Committee has not been idle, but its labors would have been ineffectual if it had not received the generous confidence and assistance so constantly accorded to it. The result of our combined efforts have secured a comparatively thorough county and township canvass; a full and fair discussion of the issues by able speakers in almost every school district in the State; the distribution of documents in English and German, sufficient in number to reach nearly all the voters of the Commonwealth, exhibiting most clearly the sophisms and subtleties of the men who endeavor to add the Rebellion by distracting and dividing us; numerous mass conventions of the people who have listened with equal benefit and delight to distinguished orators, statesmen, and soldiers from our sister States; and in their night crowning all, the people coming forward in their might to honor to a tried public servant, have made Gov. Curtin our canvas a grand, triumphal progress and ovation from Erie to the Delaware.

These efforts cannot have been in vain, and it would be idle to deny that the signs are all propitious. But it would be a high crime against God and humanity for any loyal man, because of these signs, to relax a single honest effort, or fail to use a single honest agency, to make the victory sure and conclusive.

In the beginning of the contest, the enemies of the Government in this State distinctly announced their principles and their policy. They republished the address of Judge Woodward avowing the right of Secession. They republished the pamphlet of Bishop Hopkins avowing the divinity of Slavery. Upon these two principles they have conducted their canvass. Their candidate for Governor has been charged with announcing the corollaries of these principles many times and to different persons. Merchants of high standing, eminent members of his own profession, representatives in Congress, and even the reverend clergy, have attested over their own signatures in the public prints the utterance by Judge Woodward of doctrines fatal alike to the honor of American freemen and to the integrity of the American Union.

To these accusations, involving his opinion upon questions affecting the lives, the liberties, and the property of every citizen of Pennsylvania, he replied to a high-spirited people, that he will announce his views upon these subjects after the election. Judge Woodward has misread our political history if he imagines that he can thus trifle with a free constituency, who are entitled to know the opinions of all men who desire office before, and not after, voters are asked to elevate them to high places of power and responsibility.

Fortunately, however, the proof is conclusive, as well in regard to his own sentiments as to the sentiments of the party he represents. The question is distinctly presented to every voter—whether he is for the Union or against it? If the issue is intelligently comprehended, the answer cannot be doubtful. The Federal arch now spans the Continent, resting on Maine and on California, and its Keystone will prove itself sound and as firm as its Eastern and its Western corner.

In these closing days of the campaign our good cause will be assisted by all manner of evil agencies. The metropolis is already crowded with men who purpose to cast illegal votes. Falsehoods of all hues will be started on their travels, and will increase as they go. Taxes will be named to the avaricious, the draft to the cowardly, and all men will be urged to walk in those paths of peace which lead to our individual disgrace and our national destruction. In the last extremity, larger supplies of foreign gold will not be spared to destroy the liberties of America. To all these means we can only oppose our untiring energy, springing no efforts to bring all loyal voters to the polls, our continued devotion to the cause, resisting all attempts to thwart a fair expression of the popular will, and our prayers to Heaven.

Thus strengthened, we move forward to the remaining days of the conflict, and while our heroic soldiers in the field are striving to end the Rebellion in arms at the South, let us strive to end the Rebellion in sympathy at the North, and thus by our united labors secure a lasting triumph to the cause of the Union and of republican liberty.

If we are actuated by this spirit, we cannot fail; for with us are the hopes of human progress, the strength of truth and justice, the restless impulses of civilization, the unconquerable energies of freedom, and, if we are worthy, the blessing of Almighty God.

In behalf of the Union State Central Committee,
WAYNE McVEAGH, Chairman.

Philadelphia, Oct. 8, 1893.

Whereas, The term of office of Augustus Weissmann, esq., as Supervisor will expire on Dec. 31, 1893, and to our regret, declines a re-nomination for said office, but deeming it fair and just that in his place a citizen of German origin should be nominated as candidate; and
Whereas, We consider Mr. Theo. G. Glaubenskiel eminently capable of filling said office to the credit and satisfaction of the community and to the honor of the German name, be it
Resolved, That the said Theo. G. Glaubenskiel be and is hereby most highly recommended to the delegates of the Eighteenth Ward as a candidate for said office.

His subject was "Politics as they are and as they should be." He gave a logical address, reviewing the history of State and National politics, and then gave what in his judgment should be the condition of politics. The interesting and loyal ladies engaged in getting up this course of lectures intend to continue them during the Fall and Winter.

CAPT. FISKE'S EXPEDITION.

Reported Massacre of the Party by the Sioux.

Chicago, Thursday, Oct. 8, 1893.

A special dispatch from St. Paul says intelligence brought by half-breeds to Pembina states that Capt. Fiske's overland expedition to Idaho has been massacred by the Sioux. Nothing definite is given as to time and place, except that it took place on the Big Bend of the Missouri River.

The half-breeds say that the Indians display as trophies, guns and other articles known to have belonged to the expedition.

The dispatch says that the only hope that this report may prove untrue is that it may be another version of an attack upon a party of miners who came down the Missouri, accounts of which have already been published.

The vote in many parts of the State was unusually heavy. The Union men regard the result as highly gratifying.

THE OLYMPIC.—The theater so long, and in the main so pleasantly known as Laura Keane's, was reopened last night under the management of Mrs. John Wood, as the Olympic. The house has been thoroughly renovated, and may now be pronounced, without exaggeration, one of the handsomest theaters in the country. In respect to the repertory performance—consisting of a new comedy entitled "Married Daughters" and an old burlesque entitled "Brother and Sister"—it is an act of charity to pass them by without comment. When Mrs. Wood shall have organized a competent company, and her co-adjutors shall have had a chance to do himself credit, we have no doubt that the Olympic will be a very pleasant theatrical resort. The only amusing incidents last night were Mrs. Wood's speech and the musical eccentricities of Mr. Baker. The audience was very large, and was evidently inspired by that faith which is "the substance of things hoped for, and the evidence of things not seen."
